SUMMARY

A graduate of Computer Science from Amikom University Yogyakarta in 2023. I manage a minimarket with full responsibility. I have skills in basic design and video editing and able to build WordPress-based websites. Experience as a freelance analyst in one of the stock learning communities has honed my skills in data analysis and market trends. I have an interest in digital ads, which motivates me to understand consumer behavior. With this combination of backgrounds, I hope to contribute effectively and am always ready to continue learning and growing further.
